

MEDIA RELEASE

Secretary of State's Office • State Capitol • Cheyenne, WY 82002 • 307-777-5333 • Fax: 307-777-6217

For Immediate Release

Date: October 28, 2008
Contact: Peggy Nighswonger, State Election Director
Phone: 307-777-7186
Fax: 307-777-7640

Voter Participation

State Capitol - Secretary of State Max Maxfield reminds every person in Wyoming that their vote can make a difference at the polls next Tuesday. Historically a number of races have been decided by less than a handful of votes, including state legislative races, judicial retentions and some ballot propositions.

For those persons not yet registered to vote who will be 18 years of age on November 4 and are U.S. citizens and a resident of Wyoming, registration is available on Election Day at the polls. Registered voters who are not able to go to the polls next Tuesday should vote by absentee ballot as soon as possible.

-MORE-

Secretary Maxfield stated, "Wyoming has a great record of high voter turnout for our registered voters." Wyoming still has a large number of people eligible to register to vote who aren't participating in the process. "Voting is so important, I hope everyone gets involved", Maxfield said.